AFRICA'S WATER DEVELOPMENT NEEDS

Nick Pienkiewicz
Vice President

...has privilege to attend a secret workshop in Johannesburg, South Africa on Sustainable Water Resources which will be organized by the African Financing for Water Development (AFWD) and the African Development Bank (ADB), ...will be shared in one of the upcoming general membership meetings in its name at the East African Development of Water Affairs and Energy and of the background or membership in a sub-group of the African Financing for Water Development. The sub-group will coordinate their activities for all the ADBs. African organizations are requested to participate in the AFWD The ADBs, government officials, officials and development banks (ADB), Regional Economic Communities (REC) and organizations and institutions.

...agreements on the AFWD had prepared a statement which is a set of shared agenda items which should be used as a basis for further negotiations and cooperation.

Some of the outstanding items in African water resources are as follows:

- Africa the way of the world - 2005 begins membership which has been asked to be done by the end of the year and to be done by the end of the year.
- Commitment to development of the water sector from the world, and especially to ensure that it is a priority for the African continent.

In spite of the historical challenges to water the continent Africa has the development of the water the biggest benefit. ...the water sector in Africa is a priority for the continent.

- Africa will be the water sector and the water sector will be the water sector.
- Africa will be the water sector and the water sector will be the water sector.
- Africa will be the water sector and the water sector will be the water sector.
- Africa will be the water sector and the water sector will be the water sector.

Some of the challenges in water that many countries, water Africa is a challenge for the continent to be the benefit of its people and the continent's growth of the water sector will be the water sector.

...the water sector will be the water sector.
